

Red Riding Hood visits the Dinosaurs

By Missy, 5

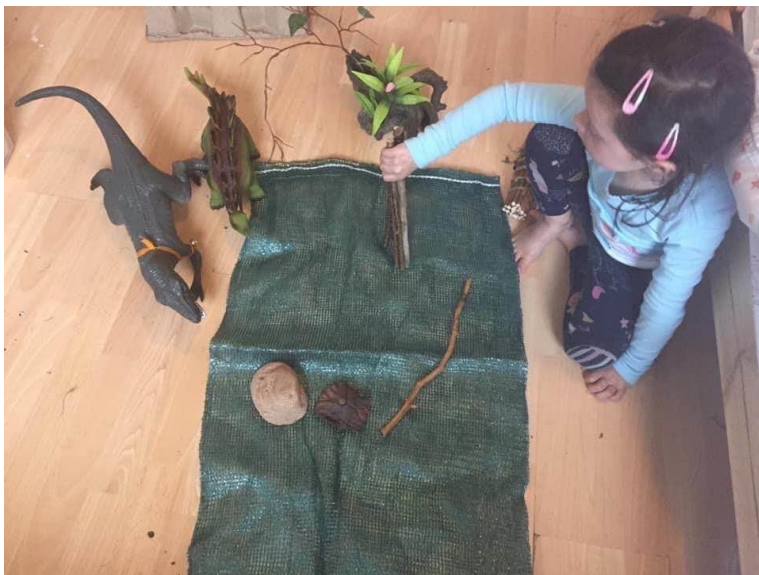

The dinosaurs lost their home during a tornado. They found tree branches, leaves and stones and built a new home. They worked really hard making sure the house is safe.

When they were done they had a tea party. A little girl in a red hood came to see them. "What are you doing here", they asked. "This is Dinos land, you are a girl". "I am Little Red Riding Hood . I am running away from a bad wolf. He wanted to eat me. Can I stay?"

"We are good", said the Dino's, "but others would want to eat you. We will protect you." So they play tag, hide and seek and tickling games, (where they tickle each other's feet).

"It's getting late, I better go". she said. "To my human world, I must find my grandma." and off she went.

But T. rex saw Red Riding Hood and followed her T. Rex saw beauty and the beast, he said "oh beauty, will you marry me ?" "Go away" said the beast she's my girlfriend".

"I am not going to marry you", said Beauty. "I belong with Beast". T. rex was sad and he went home.
